NEW LAW WILL INSURE ITS OWN FUTURE

Actual Operation Reciprocity Will Disprove Prophecies of Opponents

PRAISES ITS CHAMPIONS

President Anxious to Have Credit Given Where Due for Its Success.

BEVERLY Mass [illegible] In the first statement he has made since the passage of the reciprocity bill in the senate President Taft at the summer White House tonight freely acknowledged that his long hard campaign in behalf of that measure would [illegible] proved unavailing if the Democrats had not helped him.

The Democrats [illegible] in the colloquial sense [illegible] those words are used [illegible] but they followed the [illegible] higher policy.

For Secretary Knox and his assistants in the state department who conducted the negotiations [illegible] the President says [illegible] than a word of praise. [illegible] Republicans [illegible] who fought for it and some of those [illegible] necessary to the passage of the bill [illegible] properly may enjoy most [illegible] work well done.

In his own judgment the President said the agreement would mark [illegible] in the relations between the United States and Canada and [illegible] opposed the bill in congress [illegible] that their prophecies [illegible] allayed by its actual operation. Its passage by the Canadian parliament, the last step before it becomes a bond between the two countries he believes will be forthcoming.

Benefits Apparent in Decade

"The satisfaction that actual experience in its working will give," he said "we confidently hope will secure its permanence. In a decade its benefits will contribute much to a greater United States and a greater Canada."

The President arrived at Parramatta, the new Taft cottage shortly after [illegible] o'clock this morning motoring out from Boston in an hour.

Mrs Taft with Miss Helen Taft and Charles Taft were waiting and he had breakfast with his family for the first time since he left this city for the west July [illegible].

On the way from Washington the President had time for a long chat with Senator Penrose who led the fight for reciprocity and with Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh and Secretary Hilles. Mr Penrose left him at Philadelphia. Secretary Hilles at Newark N J and Mr MacVeagh deserted the party at Boston.

The President had been thinking about a statement however and after sleeping over it as he put it today decided it should be written and credit be given where credit was due.

With Mrs Taft and children and Major Butt he motored for 10 miles to Lynn to hear the Rev Dr Robert [illegible] of New York preach at the First Unitarian church. Luncheon over stenographer was called in and the statement dictated. The President referring to the first person unusual in statements from the White House that it might appear more truly his own. The statement reads as follows:

Believes Canada Will Follow

"That I am very much pleased with the passage of the Canadian reciprocity bill through both houses of congress goes without saying. I hope and believe it will be followed by sim-

AUTOMOBILE RACER KILLED

Maurice Fournier Crushed Under Car When Axle Breaks While Going Mile a Minute.

LEMANS France July 23—The Grand Prix de France, which was run here today under the auspices of the auto club of Sarthe was marred by a fatal accident. The axle of the machine driven by Maurice Fournier brother of noted automobile races collapsed when the car was speeding more than a mile a minute in an endeavor to overtake the French driver Hemery.

Fournier was crushed to death beneath the car and his mechanician was hurled 100 feet into a field and seriously injured.

The race drew the largest crowd since the Wright aviation trials in 1908. The tropical heat subjected the tires and engines to a tremendous strain adding greatly to the interest of the event as a test of endurance.

Fourteen starters came to the line for the race which was over a distance of 636 kilometers (395 miles), but no Americans competed, the only American car entered having met with an accident last Monday in which the driver Henri Repasse was injured and his mechanician killed.

Hemery won the event in seven hours and six minutes covering the 12 rounds of the course at an average of [illegible] miles an hour.

No other competitor completed the distance when the limit was up and most of them abandoned the race before the tenth round.

CHOLERA [illegible]

WOMAN DIES IN BOSTON OF DREAD SCOURGE

Missing Seamen Who Were Ill at Her Home, Believed to Be Carriers

BOSTON July 23 Asiatic cholera has reached Boston and caused one death according to a statement given out today by Chairman Samuel H Durgin of the Boston board of health. The cholera victim was Mrs Tamasso Mastrodenico who died at the detention hospital on Gallops Island Thursday. Mrs Mastrodenico took into her home as lodgers a few weeks ago two sailors who were members of the crew of a steamer supposed to have sailed from an Italian port. The sailors subsequently were taken ill and disappeared. Efforts are being made to locate them.

The children of Mrs Mastrodenico are under observation and the board has already begun examining the many persons who may have come into contact with the dead woman. Her house in the congested Italian district will be thoroughly fumigated and all precautions taken to protect the [illegible] families including half a hundred children who live in the building.

To Examine Neighbors

The delay in determining definitely that the woman died of cholera was due to difficulty in recognizing the germs of the disease from the cultures, the diagnosis being made possible only yesterday by the receipt from Washington of a supply of anti-cholera serum with which tests were made. Mrs Mastrodenico until she was isolated was attended constantly by her daughter Mary who slept with her. The girl is being detained at the quarantine hospital and closely watched.

Tomorrow morning a thorough examination of all the tenants of the building where the woman lived will be made by Dr John Long and Dr Allen McLaughlin of Washington who came here two days ago when the presence of cholera was suspected.

In addition four inspectors of the health department here have been watching in the north end districts for four days for any appearance of the disease among the relatives of the Mastrodenico family.

New York Situation

NEW YORK July 23—The cholera situation lacked developments today. The health authorities believe the prompt detection of the case at Bellevue hospital yesterday its removal to quarantine and the fumigation of possible sources of infection at the lodging house where the malady attacked its victim will be effective in averting an outbreak of the disease.

The condition of Manuel Bermudez the Spanish sailor whose illness gave Bellevue the first case of the plague since 1892 was reported unchanged at Swinburne Island today. There were no further deaths there nor were there any new cases at Hoffman Island where several hundred immigrants are under observation.

TAFT AND RECIPROCITY AN ISSUE IN NEBRASKA

LINCOLN Neb July 23—The indications now are that the Republican state convention which will meet here Tuesday will not prove the featureless cut and dried affair that had been looked for. There are no nominations to be made and the election to follow has little interest only judicial offices being filled.

The question of Mr Taft's candidacy for re-election and that of Canadian reciprocity with which it is coupled and which already have been brought to pointed discussion by the acts of certain leaders of various factions in the party in the state on which the coming campaign is to be fought.

That Mr Taft has many friends in the state is unquestioned but when an officer of the progressive Republican league of Nebraska an organization whose members do not all claim to be "insurgents" was recently quoted as promising the state to the President in the next national convention the storm of protest which followed developed that other candidates have considerable following.

Governor Aldrich who will have much to do with shaping the course of the convention and the campaign to follow is an avowed partisan of Senator LaFollette as are other state officials and members of the congressional delegation.

Added interest is given to the convention by the fact that Nebraska will be one of the first states in the Union formally to take a position on the question of the presidential candidate for 1912 through the state wide primaries next April at which a presidential preference will be expressed by the voters at the polls.

WILDCATS EAT TIRES

TACOMA Wash—July 23—Returning on a bicycle from summoning a physician to Puyallup, a suburb to attend his sick father Jesse Chadwick was attacked in the outskirts of Tacoma by three wildcats. Chadwick interposed the machine between the beasts and himself and escaped.

The bicycle was found today with the tires chewed off.

Member First State Board of Health Dies in Denver

BOULDER Col July 23 Dr Charles Ambrook [illegible] years old member of the first board of health of Colorado and member for many years of the faculty of the medical department at the state university here died today after a prolonged illness.

At the request of Dr Ambrook his body will be kept at the home for a week before burial. This request was prompted by a fear that he would be buried alive by mistake.

Dr Ambrook served through the Civil war and at the expiration of the conflict studied medicine.

INCOMPLETE COUNT STILL FAVORS TEXAS "ANTIS." CHARGES OF FRAUD MADE

DALLAS, Tex., July 24—(1 a. m.)—Returns from the state liquor election received by the Galveston-Dallas News to this hour give:

For prohibition 227,[illegible] against 228,9[illegible]. Antiprohibition majority 3,400.

No returns have been received from five counties but these perhaps have cast no more than 1,000 votes. Forty-seven counties have made only partial returns but in most of these only a few small boxes are missing.

The total unreported vote will not probably exceed 22,000 and it is thought the total vote polled was about 475,000 which with one exception is the largest vote ever polled in Texas.

A survey of the territory not yet reported which is well scattered over the state indicates that the returns yet to come hold about as much promise for one side as the other and the result even now seems doubtful.

DALLAS Tex. July 23.—With the antiprohibitionists leading by 4,2[illegible] votes in the returns counted up to 11 o'clock tonight from the statewide prohibition election of Saturday with the leaders of each side issuing statements claiming victory and with the additional feature of fraud charges today made by prohibition leaders the outlook shortly before midnight is that full returns will be necessary to decide the result.

Both sides stand ready to contest the vote. For 24 hours the returns have about divided themselves for and against prohibition. The total vote cast Saturday possibly will exceed 450,000.

The contest is the closest in the history of the state. Tens of thousands of persons collected around bulletin boards watching the returns. It is practically impossible to forecast what the final returns will show. About 85 per cent of the estimated vote cast is accounted for.

The counties and boxes still missing are widely distributed over the state. Some are very large. The reports in hand include practically complete returns from every large city and county.

Each Side Claims Victory.

HOLSTON, July 23.—The following statement was given out tonight by T. H. Hall, chairman of the statewide prohibition executive committee:

"Despite wholesale frauds in various sections of the state in poll tax payments by liquor interests and a practically solid Mexican vote and 85 per cent of the negro vote against the prohibition movement, prohibition in my judgment has carried by not less than 10,000 majority."

J. F. Wolters, president of the anti-statewide prohibition committee issued this statement:

"Almost complete returns indicate beyond question that we have won by a good majority. It is absolutely necessary, however to guard closely the boxes and returns so that the actual results will be protected everywhere."

ONE DEAD IN CAVEIN

EL PASO Tex., July 23.—A special to the Times from Ray, Ariz., tonight, tells of a cavein in the Mathins and Hall shaft of the Ray Consolidated Copper company, yesterday which entombed five men. Tim Gallagher an American timberman was taken from the mine dead and four Mexicans were taken out alive.

MOHAMMEDAN SECTION OF CONSTANTINOPLE BURNING

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 23.—During festivities this afternoon in celebration of the anniversary of the granting of the new constitution, fire broke out in Stamboul, near the war ministry, which narrowly escaped destruction. A violent north wind fanned the blaze, which swept over a residential district. It is estimated 2,000 houses have been destroyed. These were chiefly in the Turkish quarter.

Late tonight the fire is burning fiercely and the plight of the inhabitants is pitiable. Several persons were injured including the former minister of war, Mahmoud Schefket Pacha. Rumors are current that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Stamboul covers the whole area enclosed by the Theodosian walls of Constantinople. It is in the Mohammedan part of the city.

Within its walls are the Seraglio the principal mosques the mausoleums of the sultans the baths the bazaars the public offices of the government and the remains of the ancient capital. Separate quarters are allotted to the Armenians, the Turks the Greeks and the Jews. The quarters were destroyed by fire in 1865.

Woman Aged 111 Lives With Daughter Aged 90

ATLANTA Ga July 23—Mrs Mary Trawick Proctor 111 years old a real daughter of the American Revolution has just been discovered in a humble one-room cabin in Barton county, Georgia. Her sole companions are her daughter Miss Mary Proctor, 90 years old and two great-grandchildren, descendants of another daughter.

Mrs Proctor was born in Wake county, North Carolina, April 30, 1800. When 19 years old she married Hiram Proctor, a veteran in the Revolution and the war of 1812. She has lived under the administration of 26 Presidents, including John Adams and William H Taft.

On a bedding of straw, constituting a mattress so thin that the rough plank slats can be seen, this daughter of the Revolution lives, her form emaciated, skin wrinkled and almost a skeleton. Her aged daughter administers to the wants and necessities of the little household and betimes tills the soil in a small cotton and garden patch nearby.

The meager profits derived from this labor she adds to the $12 a month pension Mrs Proctor receives for the services her husband rendered in the war of 1812. A movement has been started in Atlanta to raise funds sufficient to provide for the two old women the rest of their lives.

ARREST OKLAHOMA SENATOR

WASHINGTON July 23.—Senator Owen of Oklahoma was one of 18 persons arrested today in Chevy Chase, Md. charged with overspeeding automobiles. The defendants put up collateral to insure subsequent appearance.

RECORD RAINFALL IN NEBRASKA AND DAMAGE BY FLOODS IS GREAT

OMAHA July 23.—Reports received in this city from Gage and Johnson counties in the southeast part of the state indicate that section was visited today by one of the heaviest rainfalls ever recorded in the vicinity. At Tecumseh in Johnson county four inches of rain fell in four hours. During the same time over six inches fell at Crab Orchard and five and one half inches at Elk Creek.

Near Crab Orchard two miles of the track of the Nebraska City Holdredge line of the Burlington railroad is washed out.

From Beatrice comes the report that the government gauge recorded a fall of eight inches of rain and that the Blue river rose 26 feet. The Blue river early this morning rose at the rate of three feet an hour submerging the railroad yards and endangering the residence and business districts.

Women and children were rescued from the tops of box cars, boats being used in the rescue work. As far as can be learned no lives were lost.

Train Service Stopped

All the railroads were hard hit by the floods. The Burlington bridge over Bear creek and nearly all the track of the Burlington Rock Island Pacific yards at Beatrice were washed out or inundated. No trains are running in or out of Beatrice and it is expected to be several days before the service can be resumed.

From all portions of the Blue valley come reports of heavy property losses. Henry Brandt a farmer living southwest of Beatrice lost 80 head of cattle, and all his corn crop. At Holmesville, seven miles southeast of Beatrice six feet of water is running through the depot. The Beatrice electric light plant is shut down and the water works plant is threatened. The Dempster mill manufacturing plant was damaged to the extent of $4,000.

This evening the waters began to recede and the worst it is believed is over.

St. Joseph, Mo., Flooded.

ST JOSEPH July 23—South St. Joseph the packing house suburb was flooded this morning as a result of the heaviest rain of the year.

A creek which runs along one side of the suburb overflowed and swept into the business district, flooding an area nearly a mile square. The property loss is heavy. Many families were driven from their homes.

Heavy Rain in Kansas.

TOPEKA Kan July 23. Topeka and this section of the state this morning received the heaviest rain recorded here in two years, the rainfall measuring 2.85 inches. Many other points in the state report from an inch to two and one-half inches.

WOMAN WHO SUGGESTED MEMORIAL DAY DIES

WASHINGTON July 23—The woman credited with having first expressed the idea of a general memorial day Mrs Sue Landon Vaughn is dead at the home of the Eastern Star, a Masonic order on which she was dependent. She was a descendant of John Adams the second President of the United States.

On April 26 1865 she led some southern women in strewing with flowers the Confederate graves in Vicksburg and the date and custom were perpetuated in the south. Three years later May 30 was adopted throughout the north as Memorial day. Mrs Vaughn was of distinguished ancestry and was the wife of John J. H. Vaughn of San Francisco. The earthquake there destroyed the family property and his subsequent death left Mrs Vaughn without resources.

Her body will be cared for in Washington by the Masonic order.

TOLEDO FIREMEN HURT

TOLEDO O July 23—Eight firemen were injured in a fire here today which destroyed the manufacturing plant of the B. A. Stevens company eight small dwellings and frame store rooms. The firemen were injured by flying bricks and window glass when one of the walls of the Stevens plant collapsed.

FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY IN STREETS OF JUAREZ

JUAREZ Mex July 23—One man dead another fatally wounded and a third shot in two places is the net result of a pitched battle in this city at 3 o'clock this afternoon between the city police and insurrecto soldiers.

The beginning of the affray was the result of an argument between Hernandez an insurrecto soldier and Dolores Martinez street commissioner of Juarez in front of the Martinez residence. When Martinez requested Hernandez to desist from his argument, Hernandez opened fire upon him with a pistol. Martinez ran into his residence securing a rifle and shooting Hernandez through the head killing him instantly.

Comrades of Hernandez at once climbed upon the roof of the garrison building nearby and opened a hot fire upon the Martinez residence which was returned by a detachment of police, who had appeared upon the scene. About 50 shots were fired before General Blanco who was summoned, was able to quell the disorder.

Martinez was shot through the arm and sustained a scalp wound in the fray, and Pablo Lomel an insurrecto soldier was shot through the stomach and will die.

The town is quiet tonight but there is much bitter feeling over the affair.

DEMOCRATS IN [illegible] POSITION

Want Some Kind of Wool Measure, but Cannot Decide on Which to Vote.

AMENDMENT FREE LIST BILL

Prefer, However, to Compel Taft to Deal With Revision Separately.

WASHINGTON July 23—The removal of Canadian reciprocity from the congressional stage has left things at the capital in a decidedly mixed condition. The Senate will [illegible] into the wool tariff tomorrow. [illegible] it is anticipated the discussion will [illegible] stick closely to wool but will run [illegible] whole gamut of tariff revision.

The House Democrats will call up Tuesday and the cotton tariff bill [illegible] their endorsement is expected to [illegible] the House Wednesday. The House is going to pass its cotton tariff [illegible] but the fate of the wool bill in the Senate still is a matter of conjecture.

Democratic leaders in the House are [illegible] as to what the Senate will [illegible] of the tariff bills now before [illegible]. They have tried to obtain definite information from Senate leaders as to what will be done but little is forthcoming.

Cannot Agree on Revision

The Senate situation refuses to untangle. Democrats want a wool revision and so do the Republican insurgents but they cannot agree on the kind. The Democrats want to pass a Democratic measure if possible but above all they want to pass some kind of a bill in the hope of embarrassing the President who has characterized the Payne Aldrich wool schedule as indefensible. If they cannot get their own bill through the Democrats may support the La Follette bill which was defeated Saturday as an amendment to the reciprocity bill, but which will come in again this week as an independent measure. With Democrats and insurgents united the La Follette bill might easily be passed.

But at this point the parliamentary bugbear intervenes. The Democratic wool bill is officially before the Senate and the La Follette bill must come in as a substitute.

Democrats in Bad Position.

Under the rules the substitute must be voted on first. If the Democrats vote for it they lose a chance to vote on their own bill and if they vote against it they confront the certain defeat of their own measure on the next vote. Either the Democrats who favor adopting the LaFollette bill in order to be sure of some revision will win in a Democratic caucus this week or else it will be determined to put the wool revision in again as an amendment to the free list bill. The wool vote comes next Thursday by agreement the free list vote the following Tuesday August 1.

If the wool bills are both voted on Thursday the subject probably will come back as an amendment to the free list bill. The Democratic leaders much prefer however that President Taft be compelled to deal with the wool revision as a separate and distinct proposition.

Investigating Bodies Busy.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio expects to secure definite action tomorrow on his resolution instructing the attorney general to begin criminal prosecutions against officers of the Standard Oil and American Tobacco companies.

Democratic Leader Underwood expects the House debate on the cotton bill to begin Thursday and run four or five days.

The Senate Lorimer election committee will resume its hearings tomorrow. The House investigating committees will be active part of the week. Tomorrow Attorney General Wickersham will be heard by the Senate judicial committee on Delegate Wickersham's charges of deliberate failure to prosecute Alaska coal contract frauds.

The House "steel trust" committee will resume work tomorrow and meet Thursday in New York city. The House "sugar trust" committee is in New York. The Controller Bay, Alaska, land inquiry is dormant.

What the Press Agents Say

"UNDER TWO FLAGS" TONIGHT

"Under Two Flags" a dramatization of Ouida's famous novel will be revived at the Opera House tonight by the Theodore Lorch Stock company. "Under Two Flags" will run four days with a matinee Wednesday afternoon. Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee a three-act farce "Our Mother in Law" preceded by a one-act version of "Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde" will be given. Seats may be reserved for all night performances. Regular prices prevail.

It may be of interest to patrons of the Opera House to know something of the methods of a stock company in producing a play. In the first place a play is decided upon, not an easy task in itself, for it is difficult to determine just what plays will draw the public. The stock manager depends mostly upon those plays which have been successful as road attractions. Even then it is not certain that they will appeal to his stock patrons for under the management of some leading producer with a popular star a poor play will succeed which when taken away from the glamour of a big name falls flat.

The next thing after the play is decided upon, is the casting of the parts. As a stock company is composed of various players each representing a certain line of parts, this is not difficult as a rule, yet sometimes plays offer the stage director much trouble in suiting the characters to the individual actors in hand because of size, personality, etc. After the play is cast rehearsals begin. Also work is started upon building the scenery, securing the properties or furniture, bric-a-brac, etc., for the stage. As the stage director has either to personally attend to all this or supervise it, one can readily see his is not a simple nor an easy task. George [illegible] Graves, who is stage director of the Lorch company, is one of the best stock directors in the country. His work is known all over America and his services are in constant demand. He came to this city only for the summer.

GREAT MAJESTIC BILL PLAYS TO CAPACITY

Capacity houses were the rule at the Majestic Saturday at the opening performances of the sensational $1,000 show which Manager Tammen offers for this week, and all attendance records for months were shattered while the way in which the show struck the fancy of Saturday's audiences means that all this week the Majestic will play to probably the biggest business in its history.

The headliner, the $800 act of the Fred Karno English Pantomime company and by far the highest priced vaudeville specialty ever brought to Colorado Springs, more than fulfilled its promise of being a riot of fun and for 25 minutes it kept every house in a constant uproar of laughter. There are 14 clever English actors in the cast, all from the leading London music halls but the way they offer different acts during the course of the performance makes it appear that there are 25 or more. The stage is set as a small stage with two boxes on each side and part of the performers go through a regular music hall program of seven or eight numbers while the others take the part of spectators in the boxes. There is some talk but most of the acting is pantomime and nothing more absurdly ludicrous could be imagined.

Popular also is the really marvelous work on the bar and rings of Lohse and Sterling who have a line of tricks entirely new and requiring remarkable skill. The act entertains everyone from start to finish. Still another good feature is the musical act of Jack Goldie, a young man with a fine tenor voice who sings, whistles and plays ragtime, all with various variations, in a way that pleases.

The Majestiscope has three unusually fine motion picture plays, two of them, "A Wife's Love" and "Fate," dramas of tragic human life and the third, "Little Dorothy," a comedy playlet that keeps everyone laughing. The concert orchestra program completes a show whose superior quality and entertainment value as well as cost was never surpassed in this city. And the regular Majestic prices prevail, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Performances at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:10.

HAYTIAN SITUATION QUIET; GUNBOAT PEORIA ARRIVES

PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, July 23—The expected advance of the revolutionists on the capital has been delayed, the insurgents at Mirebalais, 18 miles to the north, apparently waiting for additional forces which are on their way from Cape Haytien. All the government troops are concentrated here, and today comparative quiet reigns, although some shots were fired last night.

President Simon, who, after his arrival a few days ago from Fort Liberte, took to a sick bed, appears better, and attended services at the cathedral today. The failure of the insurgents to make an attack upon Port au Prince, and the fact there is now a strong government force in the capital has greatly encouraged the president.

CAPE HAYTIEN, July 23—The United States gunboat Peoria arrived today from San Juan, P R. She is now in the roadstead and is expected to remain her to protect American interests.

General Cincinnatus Leconte, who recently returned to Hayti from exile in Jamaica, today entered the city at the head of a considerable force of guerrillas. He was received with cheers.

TWO U. S. CADETS MISSING

BERGEN, Norway, July 23—Two of the cadets of the American practice squadron here have been missing since Thursday, when they set out with an excursion party. They were last seen at a tourist hotel at Haugastoel and it is feared they are lost in the mountains.

WOMAN DRAWN UNDER FAST TRAIN BY SUCTION; KILLED

DENVER, July 23—Mrs Harriet Jackson while standing at the side of the Denver & Rio Grande tracks, watching a swiftly-moving passenger train pass was drawn beneath the train by suction from the cars and instantly killed this afternoon near Greenland, 47 miles south of Denver. The engineer looking back from his cab saw the woman fall under the train and immediately reversed the engine. The body of the woman was placed aboard the train and brought to Denver.

When the accident occurred the train was traveling at an estimated speed of 45 miles an hour.

MEMBERS OF A. O. H. TRAVEL FAR TO HONOR CHAPLAIN

NEW YORK, July 23—Officers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians paid honor today to the Rt Rev John P Carroll, Roman Catholic bishop of Helena, Mont, national chaplain of the order, by coming from points as far away as Worcester, Mass, and Washington, D C, to greet him upon his arrival from Europe.

The delegation later gave a lunch in Bishop Carroll's honor.

KILLS EIGHT SNAKES; BITTEN BY NINTH ONE

DENVER, July 2?—Homer Rimel, a [illegible] 7 years old, after killing eight large rattlesnakes during a walk of a half hour near Palmer Lake this afternoon was taken unawares by a ninth snake which sprang at him burying its fangs in the little finger of his left hand. After his injury had been dressed by a surgeon at Palmer Lake he came to Denver where at his home here he is said to be in a serious condition.

LILLIAN GRAHAM MISSING

NEW YORK, July 23—The police today sent out the customary general alarm for a missing person when Mrs John Singleton complained that her sister Lillian Graham, under indictment charged with shooting W E D Stokes had disappeared.

Ethel Conrad who is also charged with shooting Stokes believes that Lillian has been kidnaped. Both girls are out on $10,000 bail pending trial.

Miss Graham has not been heard from since she went out to buy some sugar last night.

NEW LAW [illegible]

ilar legislation by the Dominion parliament. In my judgment the going into effect of the agreement will make a new epoch in the relations between the United States and Canada and will tend to a marked increase in trade between the two countries, which will be in every way beneficial to both.

"I hope the credit that belongs to Secretary Knox and his special assistants at the state department, in the negotiations and framing of the pact and their lucid explanation and defense of its terms, will not be withheld.

"In a sense, the bill passed was a nonpartisan measure, though the Republicans who voted for it probably did so on one economic theory, and the Democrats who voted for it on another. I should be wanting in straightforward speaking, however, if I did not freely acknowledge the credit that belongs to the Democratic majority in the House and the Democratic minority in the Senate for their consistent support of the measure in an earnest and sincere desire to secure its passage.

"Did Not Play Politics."

"Without this reciprocity would have been impossible. It would not have been difficult for them to fasten upon the bill amendments affecting the tariff generally in such a way as to embarrass the executive and to make it doubtful whether he could sign the bill, and yet to claim popular approval of their support of reciprocity in its defeat. In other words, the Democrats did not 'play politics' in the colloquial sense in which these words are used, but they followed the dictates of a higher policy.

"We Republicans who have earnestly sought reciprocity, and some of whose votes were necessary to the passage of the bill may properly enjoy mutual felicitations on a work well done. To those who opposed the bill on the ground that it will do harm to the farmers, we can only say that we who have supported the passage of the bill look forward to the rest of the actual operation of the reciprocity measure to disprove their prophecies and allay their fears. The satisfaction that experience in its workings will give we confidently hope will secure its permanence. In a decade its benefits will contribute to a greater United States and a greater Canada."

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN
Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

THE CARNIVAL.

THE most gratifying development thus far in connection with the great Summer Carnival, now only a week distant, is the heartiness with which Denver, Pueblo and other cities of the state are co-operating with the Pikes Peak region to make the coming celebration an event long to be remembered. Without exception the Denver and Pueblo papers are generous to the last degree in devoting space to articles concerning the Carnival, and the value of their aid could hardly be overestimated.

Within the last two or three days these outside papers have used articles from one to two columns in length, accompanied by illustrations, on the local celebration, and from now until it begins there is assurance that the only limit on the publicity which the Carnival will get from this source will be the capacity of the press agent and correspondents to furnish "live copy," while during the celebration special correspondents will be sent here to "cover" it thoroughly. The press in the smaller cities and towns is likewise giving the Carnival the most cordial support, and it may not be untimely for The Gazette, in behalf of the whole Pikes Peak region, to say "thank you" to the newspapers of the state, as well as to the various commercial bodies whose friendly co-operation is equally appreciated.

The spirit that is being shown should be especially gratifying to this city in that it may be taken to reflect in some measure the efforts made by Colorado Springs to develop a closer co-operation among the civic organizations and newspapers of the state in promoting matters of mutual interest. At the same time it evidences on the part of the state in general, an appreciation of the importance of the Carnival as a means both of drawing visitors to Colorado and of bringing the state prominently into the public eye, that should inspire everyone in the Pikes Peak region with unlimited optimism.

Distance gives perspective, and with the evidence at hand that our neighbors recognize in the coming celebration here one of the biggest events of the kind promoted in this state in years it is time for us to "sit up and take notice." Sanguine as are those in charge of the Carnival, there is every reason to believe that it will prove a success far beyond even their expectations. The attractions, notably the aviation meet, are well nigh irresistible to anyone with an appetite for novelty and excitement, and it would be difficult to conceive how the celebration could have secured a wider range of effective publicity. In view of these facts, the complete success of the Carnival from every standpoint is assured, and it is a fair hazard that as a means of attracting visitors to the Pikes Peak region it will surprise even ourselves.

TRUST REGULATION.

SENTIMENT in favor of government regulation of corporations, not by a law that restricts legitimate combinations and harasses honest business, but by a federal commission that will exercise continuous supervisory power over corporations engaged in interstate trade, is gaining momentum daily, and the time promises to be short until it will find expression in the creation by Congress of such a body.

Attorney General Wickersham is the latest government official to make a public statement in advocacy of this plan. In a speech before the Minnesota State Bar Association a few days ago he sprung somewhat of a surprise on the country by taking an advanced position on the question. Further regulation of the corporations, he said, is coming to be considered not only desirable but necessary, and declared that it is a matter for serious consideration whether the proposed commission should be given the power to fix the price of commodities entering into interstate commerce.

His utterances coincide with the ideas previously advanced by President Taft, as whose mouthpiece the Attorney General appears to be serving; former President Roosevelt, Judge Elbert H. Gary, executive head of the United States Steel Corporation, Federal Judge Peter S. Grosscup and other men of national prominence. All are agreed that a commission, similar in nature and power to the Interstate Commerce Commission, is the one method that gives promise of bringing the great trusts under effective control; but opinions differ as to the best means of eliminating their monopolistic features and the extent to which the Government should go in its regulation of private business.

The proposed committee would bear the same relation to corporations in general that the Interstate Commerce Commission does to the railroads, and were it given corresponding powers, the new body would be vested with authority to fix the price of commodities just as the present board limits transportation charges. There would be nothing new or radical in this, and Judge Gary has gone so far as to express the belief that the Government has the right to exercise such powers, and should do so.

CONTINUOUS REGULATION NECESSARY. That it will in time find itself compelled to do so in order to put a check upon the now constantly growing evils of monopolistic control of industry is almost a foregone conclusion. The Sherman Antitrust law has outlived its usefulness, and even with the new interpretation placed upon it by the Supreme Court in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco company cases is archaic. Were there instead of an Interstate Commerce Commission, merely a law preventing railroads from restraining trade, even though the courts read the word "reasonable" into it, it is easy to see that the transportation companies would be as free to do as they pleased as the great industrial corporations are now. As it is, however, instead of sporadic and uncertain restriction, the Government exercises continuous and effective regulation.

The fact that is coming daily to be more clearly recognized is that combinations of capital are not inherently antagonistic to the public welfare; that they are, in fact, an economic necessity and have a distinct economic value. Legislation concerning them, to be effective, must, therefore, view the trust as a legitimate industrial creature and aim simply to prevent it from becoming a beast of prey.

The "trust problem," in its simplest terms, is merely that of insuring the consumer a just portion of the benefits accruing from the economies of large production. With the establishment of a commission empowered to fix prices, limit dividends or exercise such other regulative authority as would accomplish this end, the organization of capital into constantly larger units would be transformed from a national menace into an economic blessing.

FROM OTHER PENS

POTATOES AND RECIPROCITY.

From the Kansas City Times.

Canada raised about 95,000,000 bushels of potatoes last year, little over a fourth as many as were produced in the United States. This year, with the crop a partial or complete failure over a large portion of the United States, and potatoes worth $2 a bushel or more, it is to be hoped that Canada will have a big yield and that the reciprocity treaty will become effective in time for consumers in this country to get potatoes free of duty from Canada.

GRAVE RISK TAFT RUNS.

From the New York Times.

One cannot help wondering at the endurance of the President in his journey to Indiana. While most of us reduced our exertions to the lowest possible point, and felt oppressed and injured if we were forced beyond the artificial breezes of electric fans, he was varying the tortures of a torrid railway car by a series of a dozen speeches made under the most trying conditions.

Our own admiration at the big man's toughness in such exhausting exercise is tempered with serious disapproval of his rashness. His health and life are precious to the country. He is engaged in a big job of great value and promise, which he has carried to a marvelous stage of advancement. Undoubtedly such words of clear sense and sound humanity as he is scattering at every point in his journey, on the subject of peace, exert an appreciable good influence. His task depends on the support of his countrymen, and he strengthens that support whenever he speaks in public. But in such exertions as those he has been making the last two days, he runs a grave risk of utterly disabling himself. Clearly, that would not pay. It is true that he is carrying out a project formed when present conditions did not exist, and though their occurrence was probable enough, they were not taken into account. He is naturally reluctant to disappoint those included in the plans or to break any engagement. But surely the heat that scorches the land and the people thereof just now may be held to meet all ordinary obligations.

THE NEW ERA IN AVIATION.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The great variety of the startling achievements of the aviators and the bewildering rapidity of the progress of man's invasion of the realms of the air make it impossible to predict, even for the immediate future, what is going to be the effect upon modern civilization or what is to be the character of the "new era" which aviation is inaugurating. After due allowance is made for the incomparable work in this country of the Wright brothers as pioneers in the preliminary studies, which resulted in the invention of the biplane, and for the occasional spectacular performances of airmen like Curtiss, Brookins, Ely, Hamilton, Atwood, etc., the activities of the French inventors and aviators have been those which have borne most important fruit. Not only do the French airmen far outnumber those of every other nation, but France has led the way in the perfection of apparatus and in broadening the scope of aviation as applied to practical uses.

It was under French inspiration chiefly that aviation has been advanced from a sort of racetrack vaudeville—a stage from which it is only just emerging in this country—to the cross-country circuit racing which is now engrossing the attention of the world. What Hamilton accomplished only a little more than a twelvemonth ago, in his flight from New York to Philadelphia and back, under the auspices of this newspaper, and as the bearer of actual missives between the two cities, and what Atwood is doing today in his aerial journeyings from place to place, is now being done in Europe upon a scale which staggers the imagination. Mountain and sea no longer are barriers to the men-birds; the crossing of the English channel—which less than a year ago was a feat to be ranked among the greatest done by mankind and cabled to every quarter of the civilized world, is today a mere incident of a journey which includes the chief cities of France, Germany, the low countries and England; a flight negotiated by a bevy of biplanes and monoplanes more like a flock of great birds than of machines guided and directed by human hands.

The recent flights in Europe, from Paris to Madrid, and across the Alps, have rung the knell upon the old style of performances, and have enlarged the field of operations so that now neither mountains nor oceans will long be barriers to the passage of the airships. Nor are the modern vehicles of the air under the solitary guidance of a daring and lonely aviator; the carrying of passengers will certainly be, if it has not already been made, a condition of all circuit riding. This is a development which will inevitably hasten the settlement of the legal problems which are already pressing the nations. In London only yesterday the "mother of parliaments," the most ancient and dignified of legislative bodies in the world, was stampeded from its stately deliberations by the sudden appearance, maneuvering among the towers of Westminster, of a daring aviator.

Sunflower Philosophy

My health is out of sight; I'm always feeling right; with joyous spiels I kick my heels, and dance by day and night. I take no pale green pills for any kind of ills; and so escape a wreath of crape and sidestep doctors' bills.

THE SECRET OF HEALTH. I shun the faddist's talk; I eat no grated chalk, I hit no can of liquid bran or shredded cabbage stalk. I dodge the patent foods and predigested goods, and oatmeal cakes and other fakes of Dr. Hutchiwoods. My stomach is my friend, and will be to the end; it treats me fair and I'll be square, and no junk to it send. Don't feed your stomach hay, don't fill it full of whey, but feed it steaks and frosted cakes—your appetite obey. Ah me, I'd rather die than give up raisin pie! And all the schemes the doctor dreams I don't intend to try. The good old ancient seers! They lived eight hundred years! They used to eat all kinds of meat and hash and roastin' ears!

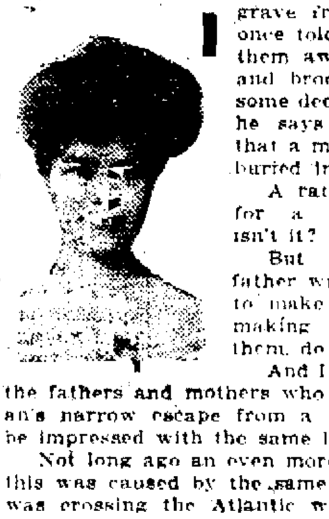
THE DAILY CHIT-CHAT

BY RUTH CAMERON

In the town of Biddeford, Me., two men and a woman were recently jailed on very serious charges, because the two little daughters of the woman told the sheriff some startling stories about a grave out in their yard.

Fortunately, the man who was supposed to have been inhabiting the grave appeared in the nick of time and proved that he had not been murdered and the accused were set free.

And now—courage comrades, this is what I am driving at—the children's father has come forward and declared that his children got their idea of a grave from a story which he once told them. To frighten them away from the swamp and brook in which there are some deep and dangerous holes, he says he told the children that a man and two cows were buried in that vicinity.



A rather ludicrous outcome for a near-tragic situation, isn't it?

But I don't believe that father will try again very soon to make his children mind by making up bug-a-boos for them, do you?

And I just hope that some of the fathers and mothers who read about this woman's narrow escape from a murder trial will also be impressed with the same lesson.

Not long ago an even more terrible tragedy than this was caused by the same trick. A woman who was crossing the Atlantic with two little children tried to keep the baby from crying by telling him that if he cried again she would throw him out the porthole into the ocean. A few minutes later, while the mother was out of the stateroom, the baby cried and the other child actually carried out its mother's threat.

Of course these are unique and horrible examples of the danger of telling lies to children to frighten them into obedience. Let's take a more commonplace one. A prominent doctor has recently written to me to ask if I will protest against using the doctor as the bugbear with which to frighten children. He says he is constantly hampered in his diagnoses of children's diseases by their unreasoning terror because they have been told that if they aren't good their mother will get the doctor to come and cut out their tongues or perform some other "pleasant" little operation. The result is that when they are really sick and the doctor is sent for they run screaming away at sight of him and a careful diagnosis is almost impossible. That really serious results might follow from such a state of affairs anyone can easily see.

Every fear is a fetter to our fullest development and our freest action. We who are older have learned this by hard experience. Then, surely, we ought to try to free our children from any fears that they may naturally have instead of serving our momentary convenience by binding them with new shackles.

But He's Dead

By KENNETT HARRIS

There once was a perfectly virtuous man,
But he's dead. Stone dead!
I have heard that his life had a very brief span,
But he's dead, that is certain; deny it who can,
And a yew tree grows over his head.
His standards were high; pretty close to sublimity,
He was honest and brave, with a fine magnanimity;
But his wife just wore calico, gingham and dimity,
And he's dead.

He was a most just and exemplary man,
But he's dead. Stone dead!
Some asserted his skin had a stuffing of bran,
And entries were few in the race that he ran.
So no wonder he came out ahead.
He was friendly and kind, showed no trace of formality;
He had charity joined with the finest morality;
But he didn't rank high in his native locality,
And he's dead.

You hear of some quite meritorious man,
But he's dead. Stone dead!
In his life he was under the deadliest ban.
His name you will find on the tombstones you scan.
Now and then they have lapped him in lead.
If he lived all his days in impeccable purity,
And his word was quite equal to chattel security;
He is calmly awaiting a blissful futurity.
He is dead.

GOD IN THE HOME

The World's Great Need. A Godless World of Godless Homes a Growing Danger.

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 23.—Pastor Russell delivered two addresses here today to crowded and attentive audiences. We report one on "God in The Home," from the text, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" (Joshua xxiv, 15). The pastor said:

Do not understand me to teach that the world's opportunity for life everlasting or death everlasting is now. "God hath appointed a day in which he will judge the world," grant the world a judgment or trial or test. That great day is future. It is the day of Christ, a thousand years long. It will be a glorious opportunity! Present right doing and right thinking, or wrong doing and wrong thinking will have much to do with the condition of every man and woman at that time. He or she will enter upon that day of blessing and opportunity either from a higher or a lower standpoint, proportionately as he or she has acted wisely and conscientiously at the present time.

But nothing that the world can do can interfere with God's great proposition, that a full opportunity for life or death eternal shall then come to every member of the race, because Christ died for the ungodly. The only class to whom present life means life or death eternal is the church. And by the church I mean, not church attendants, nor outward professors, but those who have entered into a covenant with God through Christ and who have been made partakers of the Holy Spirit, tasting of the good word of God and the powers of the age to come. If these should fall away, the apostle forewarns us, it would be impossible to renew them again unto repentance. And there will be no hope for them with the world in the world's trial day because they already have enjoyed their share of the merit of Christ's death.

A Great Privilege.

When, therefore, I speak of God and the home, I am not having in mind a family composed exclusively of saints who daily and hourly are following their great Redeemer's footsteps in self-denial, in sacrifice, in the narrow way which leads to glory, honor and immortality and association with the Redeemer in his glorius kingdom which is to bless the world for a thousand years.

I believe the Bible teaches that there are many of the world who are reverential, kind and just to a large degree, who are not saints—who have not presented their bodies living sacrifices to God, who have not been begotten of his holy spirit, and not, therefore, members of that "little flock to whom it is the Father's good pleasure to give the kingdom"—in joint-heirship with their Redeemer and head. To this latter class our Master evidently referred when he said to his followers, "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

To live righteously, soberly and godly in this present world to the extent of one's ability is what everyone should do—no less. To live a life of sacrifice—to lay down our lives for the brethren, for the truth, in the service of the Lord, is another matter, which justice does not require, and which the Bible nowhere enjoins upon mankind. It is pointed out as a privilege to those who desire it, and glory, honor and immortality on the spirit plane is the reward attached to this invitation or high calling. It is the selection of this special class of consecrated ones that is the particular order in the divine program at the present time, because the faithful, the elect, the "overcomers" of this class are to be the associates of the Redeemer in his great work of uplifting the world and restoring all the willing and obedient to human perfection, to an earthly Eden home, everlasting, in which God's will shall "be done on earth as it is done in heaven."

An Inundation of Unbelief.

In our day the shackles of ignorance and superstition are breaking. Men, women and children are beginning to think for themselves. They no longer believe the fairy tales of childhood. The dreadful hobgoblins and nightmares of the dark ages respecting purgatory and eternal torture are doubted by all, and by the great mass totally disbelieved. What have they now to attach them to the Almighty, since they have never been taught the love of God, the lengths and breadths and heights and depths passing all human understanding? This is the world's great need—to know God as he really is, a father, a friend, a God of love! And to thus know him the people need to be taught how seriously they were mistaught, in the past along the lines of hell and purgatory.

How could they ever truly love and worship a God of injustice and of hate—one inferior to themselves—one who knew, foreordained and prepared for their torture before they were born. They must see that these things taught by the creeds of the dark ages are wholly at variance with the Bible, else they will never come back to the Bible nor be able to see its teachings in their true light. They must be taught that the sin and death, sorrow and trouble all around us are the wage or penalty of father Adam's disobedience. They must learn that God purposes a blessing and uplifting which will be as worldwide as the curse.

Many religious leaders today deny that there is a personal God and ascribe everything to—a great nothing, which they designate nature-god. Is it surprising, in view of the fact that these teachings are being promulgated in the universities, colleges and theological seminaries, in the high schools, and even to some extent in the common schools—is it any wonder that the rising generation is losing its God?

Awakened Parental Responsibility.

It is high time that parents realize the true situation—it is almost too late now. The seeds of unbelief already sown in the minds of the rising generation are being watered continually, and are growing. All who love their families, all who love mankind in general, should awaken to the fact that a world that has lost its God must of necessity be an unhappy world. Platonic philosophy may serve the purposes of the few, but surely cannot serve the masses of our race. A godless world will ere long mean a discontented world, an unhappy world, and, bye and bye, a world of anarchy and strife. This is what our worldwide education is leading to. Few of our race can stand an education which recognizes no God, no revelation of him, no responsibility to him, and no hope of a future life which will be effected by the conduct of the present.

REV. C. Y. CLARK TALKS BEFORE MEN'S MEETING

The Rev. Clement Y. Clark, a noted minister of Minneapolis, Minn., made an interesting talk on "Why I Am a Christian," at the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon.

He asked two questions—first, "Why am I a Christian rather than a follower of any of the other religions, such as Mohammedanism, Buddhism or Confucianism?" and second, "Why am I a Christian rather than a believer in no religion, or a man of the world?"

In answer to the first question, he showed the contract between Christianity and the other three religions. He cited that it is necessary to recognize the others as religious organizations, since they have a large number of followers and were founded upon religious principles, and that the Christian religion must show its better right of existence before the others are abandoned. These points were discussed to a great length.

In the second part it was only necessary to show that he believes in Christ because of himself, his conception of life and the things taught and promised.

HARDY'S
16 NORTH TEJON STREET

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

July 24, 1881.

The city police officers had very nice quarters in the Opera House block next to the Council chamber.

Mayor France announced that all dogs whose licenses were not paid before the first of August would be exterminated.

An alarm brought out all the fire department and sent them scurrying northward but they could find no fire. It was subsequently learned that the fire was in the south end and had been extinguished without the aid of the department.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

July 24, 1891.

The Pikes Peak Press club was permanently organized with the adoption of a constitution and by-laws and the election of the following officers: Charles S. Sprague, president; H. S. Rogers, vice president; Walter L. Wilder, secretary; C. H. Frowing, treasurer, and L. H. Gowdy, J. D. Duncan and J. Q. Royce, directors.

Don C. Goddard, with Perkins and Holbrook, as the firm was then called, returned from a 10 days' trip in the mountains.

Seven Popular Pastimes

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is no one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

NO. 1—BASEBALL.

Baseball is undoubtedly the most popular pastime in America. In fact there is no recreation in the world that has so many devotees. Of recent years it has become the national game of America, and more money is expended on its enjoyment than in all other sports calculated together.

According to the official figures of the two major leagues in 1910, the total attendance was 7,279,097. The total American league attendance was 3,586,837, and the National league 3,692,260. These figures show simply the number of people interested in the game sufficiently so to attend as far as the two big leagues are concerned, not calculating the millions who have patronized the smaller leagues and the individual games, which would no doubt send the amount well up over the 100,000,000 showing what a universal hold this sport has on the American people.

Baseball had its origin in the old schoolboy game of "rounders," so popular years ago in England. It has been known in various forms in the eastern part of the United States for nearly a century, but it is only within the past fifty years that is has come to be a recognized field sport throughout the country.

The honors of its place of birth are divided. Philadelphia claims that her "town ball" was practically "baseball," and that it was played by her Olympic club from 1833 to 1859. On the other hand, New York maintains that her Washington club, organized in 1843, was the first exponent of the actual game, while certainly the Knickerbocker club of New York, which played for convenience on the Elysian fields of Jersey City (where now Hoboken stands) was the first to establish a code of rules. Baseball, as a national game, really came into existence with the union of all the clubs of New York and vicinity into a National Association of Baseball Players" in 1858.

This association revised the playing rules at its annual conventions from 1858 to 1870, by which time it was found that the popularity of the game had developed, besides the original amateur class, a number of trained professionals. The organization of the first professional baseball nine (the Cincinnati Red Stockings), in 1868, was followed in 1871 by the formation of two national associations, the one governing the amateur clubs, and the other the professionals.

In 1876 the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs was organized, the original professional body of 1871 having become extinct. This new association, which is one of the existing leagues made good progress in stamping out some of the abuses which, with professionalism, had crept into the game, but new abuses were ever developing.

By 1882 the time was ripe for the formation of a rival, and the American Association of Professional Clubs was formed. The two organizations, instead of proving of benefit to the game, created new dangers and discords; so much so that in 1890 the dissatisfied from each combined to form the Players' league, in the hope of getting control of the game.

In the contest of interests which followed, both the Players' and the Association were disbanded, and the name, "The National League and American Association of Professional Baseball clubs," was made the governing body, which was followed by the organization of the American league.

By a national agreement made in 1887, the minor leagues, Eastern, New England, American (formerly Western), Northwestern, Central, etc., and the various State leagues, the International and Canadian abide by the one professional code of rules.

The history of college baseball is not a long one. After some ten years of intermittent life among a few New England colleges, it assumed definite shape with the formation, in 1879, of the Intercollegiate Baseball Association, by Harvard, Princeton, Brown, Amherst and Dartmouth. Yale refused to join because professionalism was not barred, coming in the next year, however, when further restrictions were adopted. In 1887, Harvard, Princeton and Yale withdrew, and formed, with Columbia, the Eastern College league; Columbia left it a year later. The original Intercollegiate Association underwent various changes by the withdrawal of Brown and Dartmouth, the entrance of Wesleyan, the entrance and withdrawal of Trinity, and now exists under the name of Intercollegiate Association of the New England States, composed of only Amherst, Wesleyan and Williams. Meanwhile the Yale-Harvard-Princeton agreement had been dissolved for trivial reasons, although their contests and comparative records, while not on a championship basis, are still watched with great interest. It is strange that in the national sport there should be no general intercollegiate association or code of playing rules; usually, though not without exception, the rulings of the professional league have been adopted.

L. E. MURPHY HERE; OTHER OFFICERS OF M. W. A. ON FRIDAY

L. E. Murphy of Leavenworth, Kan., chairman of the board of directors of the Modern Woodmen of America, who meet here Friday to inspect the sanatorium belonging to the order, arrived in this city yesterday. Mr. Murphy was instrumental in having Colorado Springs selected as the site for the sanatorium and his influence will be of great assistance to the local Chamber of Commerce, which announces Colorado Springs in the race to secure the Woodmen's head camp in 1914.

According to Mr. Murphy, the entire executive council of the Modern Woodmen of America, with two exceptions, will be here Friday. They have accepted the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce to dine with that body Friday night, and from Chicago and other points in the middle west they will arrive here Friday. A. R. Talbot, head consul, and C. W. Hawes, head clerk, cannot be present, but A. R. Smith, A. N. Bort, S. S. Tanner, F. R. Korns, C. J. Byrn and Mr. Murphy will be here. In addition Dr. J. E. Rutledge, newly appointed superintendent of the sanatorium, and Truman Plantz, general attorney for the order, will be present.

While the Chamber of Commerce will extend its official invitation to the order Friday night for the big 1914 meeting, no decision will be reached for one year.

It is the intention of the Chamber of Commerce to see that while here, the visiting executives get well acquainted with Colorado Springs and her advantages as a convention city.

In Buffalo this year 1,000 authorized delegates and 25,000 Woodmen, drilling teams and visitors attended the national meeting and in 1914 the convention will be even larger. It is known that certain members of the executive council favor this city on account of its central location, delightful climate and natural advantages. While the inspection of the sanatorium is the official business of the Woodmen officers while here, the opinion of Colorado Springs that they gain on the visit will be largely instrumental in deciding the next convention place.

REALTY MEN DELIGHTED; [illegible] MEN IN [illegible] REGION

Practically all the members of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges who have been the guests in this city of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce will remain over till today before leaving for their homes. Many of the party will stay on for one week or two weeks, attracted by the cool climate and the scenic advantages. The number of visiting realty men together with their wives and families was estimated Saturday at 400 and hotel registers bear evidence that almost all these are still here.

Nothing but praise for Colorado Springs is heard in the talk of the visitors and after the finish of the long automobile ride, Saturday, during which they were shown all the points of interest in this section of the Pikes Peak region, compliments of the most sincere type were paid the city, its business ways and its advantages. The fact that many will stay until carnival week bears evidence of the popular way the city is accepted. It is thought that fully one-fourth will stay for that event.

GOES TO DENVER

Charles Heckler, the tourist from Milwaukee who is supposed to have become mentally unbalanced when he went to Cripple Creek last Friday, and who was brought back to Colorado Springs, has gone to Denver. It is believed that he has recovered his mental poise. Before coming to Colorado Springs upon the advice of his physician, Heckler was overcome by the heat, and this is supposed to have been the cause of his strange action in jumping off a train at Victor. His wife went on to Cripple Creek, and Heckler was subsequently found by the authorities. He is well known in business circles in Milwaukee.

CLOSER THAN BROTHERS

From the Philadelphia Times.

The school teacher was trying to illustrate the difference between plants and animals.

"Plants," she explained, "are not susceptible of attachment to man as animals are."

"How about burrs, teacher?" piped a small boy who had passed the summer in the country.

STATE PAPERS TO BOOST WORK ON SPRINGS CARNIVAL

The manner in which the newspapers in Denver and Pueblo have thrown open their news columns to boost for the Colorado Springs carnival is a splendid and welcome guarantee that the promises made when the new state spirit was inaugurated were no idle ones. With a [illegible] that has taken a weight off the shoulders of the carnival committee the proprietors [illegible] of the Denver and Pueblo papers have entered into the spirit of the game for Colorado Springs and have freely offered their news columns to give wide publicity to the carnival with its numerous attractions. The big feature stories already run are only a forecast of what the Denver and Pueblo men will do this week and during the carnival and every Colorado Springs business man interested in the success of the carnival is deeply appreciative of the kindly spirit shown.

As the proprietor of one of the big Denver dailies expressed it in a letter to the executive committee: "We are in the game to boost for all parts of this state and anything we can do to benefit Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region is yours for the asking." The same spirit has been manifested by the other newspapers and from the manner in which the press of the entire state is getting behind the carnival, the event will be the greatest success of its kind ever pulled off in Colorado.

ALBERT SMITH ASSAULTED

A street brawl about 4 o'clock yesterday morning resulted in Albert Smith of 309 West Kiowa street being beaten up and the arrest of his alleged assailants, J. C. Chapman and E. L. Jackson, who gave their addresses as 307 North Weber street.

The police said last night that Chapman and Jackson will be taken into justice court today to answer charges of assault and disturbance.

The men, it is alleged, were intoxicated and were causing a disturbance around Smith's home. He went out to remonstrate with them and was attacked and beaten, it is claimed. Chapman and Jackson were arrested in different parts of the city about 4 o'clock with some of their clothing missing. They are photographers and it is understood came to Colorado Springs a short time ago.

JAMES STILL MISSING

Although the sheriff's office and other searchers tramped through the mountains in the vicinity of Rock Creek canon every day last week no trace was found of Andrew J. James of 707 North Weber street, who disappeared mysteriously on June 27. James set out to visit a mining claim on Black mountain, going by way of Rock Creek canon, whose entrance is about 20 miles southwest of Colorado Springs. Since that time nothing has been heard of him.

I will not be responsible for any bills contracted for by Mrs. A. W. Markscheffel on and after July 24, 1911.

LESSONS IN ZOOLOGY

Big Circus Menagerie Is an Open Book of Natural History.

What is a viak vaark? The chances are there is not a man in America who has ever seen one. And what is an emu? How does an elephant smell? What animal's hair makes the finest Oriental lace? What animal exudes blood from its pores? What animal carries its young in a pouch? Why does a giraffe have such a long neck? What is a zebroid?

The youngest school boy who visits the menagerie of the great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers shows in Colorado Springs on Tuesday, August 8, will be able to answer these questions and many more. In fact he will learn more natural history in the hour he spends among the animals than he could possibly gather from all the text books that are printed.

The management of this circus has this season introduced an entirely new method of displaying animals. It has engaged a half-dozen well-informed lecturers to pilot visitors through the zoological department, explaining hundreds of exhibits and giving practical demonstrations of odd things that govern wild animal life. This is the first time that any circus has ever given any special attention to visitors during the hour usually devoted to the menagerie. Strangers are very often afraid to ask questions in a circus menagerie for fear of discourteous replies. With this show all is different. Patrons leave the grounds, after the various exhibitions are over, vastly more satisfied and much benefited in an educational way.

There are 780 animals in the menagerie. The majority of them are specimens that until this season were never seen in America. Without doubt 90 per cent of the circus-goers even in our largest cities have not so much as heard their names. This circus considers its menagerie not merely a side attraction but a very important part of the institution which should constantly be kept up to date by the addition just as soon as it is discovered of every creature new to animal life. It is the only show that has its own animal hunters. These fearless men are constantly searching the jungles and the wild spots of the earth for novelties which they invariably secure years before they reach the various European wild animal markets.

This circus does not depend for its menagerie material on the small animal dealers. They have for sale only the ordinary things that can be found in any large city's zoological garden and which have been hauled around the country by small shows until they have become as tame to circus goers as a goat or a raccoon.

Another feature in the menagerie of this show is the baby colony. It occupies one end of the tent. Here are to be found some very amusing and interesting animal youngsters cared for and jealously guarded by their vain mothers. There is a special lecturer for this department and the information one gains by listening to him is a valuable asset to one's education.

Hendricks Brings Two Teams for Today's Game With Zooz

Happy Jack Hendricks, with 18 of his Bearcats in tow, dropped down to Colorado Springs last night fresh from their victory over St. Joe and ready to take on Coughlin's Zooz this afternoon.

"I always travel prepared for emergencies," said the Grizzlies' chief, when asked why he had so many athletes on the job to engage the local pastimers in friendly encounter. "I've heard that John has quite a drove of fence-busters signed up this season and that there are those in this town who think the Bears will be mussed up a little out at the Zoo lot.

"Who am I going to pitch? Well, that's a state secret until tomorrow afternoon. I have a few flingers along, O'Brien, Schreiber, Harris, Hagerman, and so on, and it probably will be one of those. Maybe I'll use two or three of them for a few innings each and give the fans a treat."

Today's game, which will be called at 3:15, will give Springs people an opportunity to see the Western leaders in action and a record crowd is looked for at Zoo park. Denver is the only Western league team that is scheduled to play in Colorado Springs.

The Zooz will go against the Bears with their strongest lineup. The only change from yesterday's batting order will be Wunkler, a new backstop who is said to be a phenom. Van Stone will be Gail's selection to do the box work for the home team, and if the ex-collegian is in form, there are predictions that the Grizzlies will find him as good if not better than other twirlers they have faced around the Western league circuit.

The official lineup was not given out last night, but the teams will be made up from the following:

Zooz—Gail, cf; Siddons, Warbritton, rf; Hastings, lf; Counts, 3b; Wunkler, c; Reilly, 1b; Friel, 2b; Ady, Boasen, ss; Van Stone, p.

Denver—Lloyd, 2b; Gilmore, lf; Cassidy, rf; Beall, cf; Quillin, 3b; Lindsay, 1b; Coffey, ss; Frambes, c; O'Brien, Harris, Schreiber, p.

Baltimore to Stay in Eastern League

BALTIMORE, July 23.—President Johnson of the American league and five owners of major league clubs have expressed their opposition to any change at this time in Baltimore's baseball status and this city will remain in the eastern league for at least another year, regardless of the outcome of Edward Hanlon's negotiations for the purchase of the Boston National league club.

This was made known tonight when Mayor Preston announced he had received six unfavorable replies to his letter asking for a conference of National and American club owners with a citizens' committee to consider the question of a major league team here.

NEW SWIMMING RECORD ACROSS GOLDEN GATE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—Walter Pomery and George Bond, of the Olympic Athletic club, swam across the Golden Gate today, from Fort Point to Lime Point, a distance of one mile. It was the first time the feat has been accomplished in 20 years, Edward Caville having completed the distance between the same in 1891 in 90 minutes.

Pomery covered the distance in 24 minutes, 36 seconds and Bond in 28 minutes, 24 seconds.

BARE KNUCKLE PUGS FIGHT TWENTY-ONE ROUNDS; [illegible]

DANBURY, Conn., July 23.—One of the most brutal prize fights in this section for many years, was held at Sedom reservoir in southeast New York between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning when two Danbury fighters, Dekin and Regan, fought 21 rounds with bare knuckles.

The referee attempted to stop the fight in the tenth round because of the punishment Dekin was receiving, but the fighters refused to quit and stayed until the twenty-first round when Dekin was so badly battered he had to give up. His nose was pounded to a pulp, his eyes closed and his lips cut and swollen and until tonight it was thought he had received a concussion of the brain. After the fight he was taken to a farm house and cared for until brought to his home here.

Regan also was badly punished. The men fought at 140 pounds for a purse of $100.

Frank Kramer Wins 2 Races at Newark

In the five-mile open race Kramer won handily in 10:20 1-5 with Joe Fogler second and Floyd MacFarland third.

Alfred Goulett won the Australian pursuit race in a field of eight riders in 7:09 1-5, covering a distance of three miles and three laps. Fogler was second and Fred Hill third.

Ray Duer of Los Angeles won the ten-mile run behind the motors in 14.09 2-5.

JUVISY, France, July 23.—The aviator, Joly, was killed today while making a flight in a biplane. The fall of the machine is attributed to air eddies caused by the heat.

AMERICANS WIN IN PARIS

PARIS, July 23.—At the St. Cloud race course today Americans captured two stakes. Nash Turner's Alby won the Prix de Feucherolles, a selling event at a mile and a half, while W. K. Vanderbilt's Mirambo finished first in the Prix de Nozay, at one mile six furlongs.

Star Athletes Will Compete

ASTORIA, Ore., July 23.—Waldo Throop, the phenomenal recruit from the University of California, will be in the dashes at the Astoria Centennial A. A. U. meet, August 25. He has advised the committee in charge of the track and field events that he will be in Astoria and bring a dozen of the best athletes from southern California with him.

Forrest Smithson, champion of the world in the high hurdles, is entered in the stick events. He will have as his running mate, Jim Donahue, who will also attempt the pole vault and the broad jump. Donahue leaves for the national tourney at Chicago, August 3. As soon as that meet is out of the way, on August 12, he will entrain direct for Astoria, so as to be in the best of condition when the events are run off here.

Ernest Fischer, the greatest distance man ever developed in California, will enter the mile and two-mile events. This Pomona star holds the state record in the eight-lap stuff, and in the past two years has never been beaten in either race except at his own pleasure, when he let his team mate, "Soupy" Sturges, pass him at the finish.

McKinnon of the L. A. A. C. is down for the weights, and is slated by the southern Californians to "cop" several points in his events. This galaxy of stars should break into the winnings if they do not go stale before the meet, something that is not considered likely by those who know the men and their methods of training.

Fast Time Made in Motorcycle Races

A big crowd witnessed yesterday's motorcycle races at Roswell park. The track was in excellent condition and the card of five events was run off without accident of any kind. Summary:

First race—10 miles—won by G. M. Herndon; Emmet Knight second; H. Carr, third. Time, 14:13 3-5.

Second race—5 miles—won by Alva Stratton; Frank Stratton, second, Herndon, third. Time, 7:05 1-5.

Third race—5 miles, flying start, three heats—won by A. Stratton. Time, 7 minutes flat.

Fourth race—5 miles (private machines)—won by Herndon, E. Knight second; U. S. Johnson, third. Time, 7 minutes flat.

Fifth race—8 miles (amateur)—won by A. Stratton; Knight, second; Thomas Price, third. Time, 11.03 3-5.

GRAND CIRCUIT HORSES [illegible] GRAND RAPIDS

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 23.—With horses from every Grand Circuit stable, except McDevitt and Valentine, quartered at Comstock park, everything is in readiness for the Grand Circuit meeting to begin here on Tuesday. The entry list carries the names of more than 250 trotters and pacers of which at least 150 will start in the 16 races on the program.

Wednesday's feature is the furniture manufacturers' purse, $10,000, for 2.12 trotters.

Thursday, the Comstock purse of $5,000 for pacers will be raced, as will also the Grand Rapids handicap for trotters, the first weight handicap ever raced on the harness track.

SANTA MONICA ROAD RACE WILL BE RUN OCTOBER 4

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—The date for the annual Santa Monica road race was set today by the committee in charge for October 4. Instead of three races as heretofore, there will be but two this year—a light car event and the big car free-for-all. Each race is to be 300 miles and the prizes, in addition to cups, will be $5,000 and $10,000 respectively.

BLACK SOX TO PLAY TEAM FROM BOULDER

The Colorado Springs Black Sox have scheduled two games to be played at Roswell park on July 30 and August 6, when the local aggregation will meet the Boulder Blues and the Rocky Mountain Giants in the order named. Both are Sunday games. Play will be called at 3 o'clock.

Cleveland has turned back to Toledo Pitcher Hi West, who has had none too great a success this spring as a major leaguer. West was anxious to go back to his home town, where he is a great favorite. Outfielder Hank Butcher, of New Orleans, has joined the Naps.

Zooz [illegible] Lakeside Team Into Tow, 9 to 7, in [illegible]

Zooz 9; Lakeside 7.

What looked like the softest kind of a chance for the Lakeside Lions to grab yesterday's game from those Zooz was nipped in the bud by the P. L. (code for peerless leader and meaning Mr. Gail) when he jammed the emergency brake early in the exercise. The machinery paused long enough to unhitch Lefty Walsh, who was not performing in big league style, and Mr. Irven Earl Hastings, the bridegroom elect, was backed in the traces.

After executing the flying switch the game progressed in a manner highly satisfactory to the Zooz, although Mr. Steibel was somewhat disturbed at the way things kept coming his way. That the Lakesides did not slip one over on the ambitious Zooz compels thanks to Hastings, the tabasco fielding of the P. L. and the strong-arm work of the home team's sterling batters.

There was a ripple of excitement when Hastings took the hill with his directoire pantaloons, but the near-Benedict settled down to the work on hand and whiffed Mr. Maloney, hero of many protested decisions. Two had already perished when Walsh's day's work was done, but before he was banished the Lakeside crew had sculled in with a pair of tallies.

In the local half of the first Gall was called out on strikes by Ludwig, who acted as sub ump for an inning and a half pending the arrival of the tardy Mr. Rothgeb. Lud's temerity in calling three in a row on the manager ditches his chances, it is believed, of ever getting another opportunity to toil in the Zoo yard. Warbritton and Hastings followed with a pair of lucky doubles, however, and the locals scored one.

The third period saw the Zooz get under way in their accustomed style. Gall singled and a pass and an error filled the corners. Counts doubled and an out scored Hastings from third. Three runs.

Warbritton's single, a stolen base and a hit by Counts sent another tally over in the fourth.

Lakeside did not prove dangerous until the sixth when four runs counted. A pass, a single and another pass filled the corners with no one out. Hastings fanned the next two, but hits by Greenlief and Steibel and a passed ball gave the Denverites four tallies.

The local sixth gave the Zooz three more runs and took the lead from Lakeside. A pair of timely errors, an out, a double steal by Hastings and Counts and a hit scored three.

The Zooz made their last run in the seventh on a double by Friel, an error on Ady's grounder and Peters' single. Two bases on balls in the eighth and a hit by Steibel gave Denver the last run. Gall's catch of a short fly to left center was one of the features of the game. Score.

in 1866 [illegible] Charles Tel ed the patronage of one of most famous bankers in F [illegible] de Germiny [illegible] governor of the Banque de France The war of 1870 broke out The banker died during the war and the loss proved to be irreparable to Tellier In 1872 he solicited the patronage of the Academy of Sciences A commission was named to study his work and it reported favorably Tellier was congratulated publicly and he thought himself on the road to fortune

But the academy soon forgot all about him Tellier then decided to give a demonstration of his method He formed a company which bought an English steamer and named it the Frigorifique The steamer was equipped with Tellier s machines and it left Rouen on September 24 1876 After 106 days on the ocean the steamer arrived at La Plata the meat and vegetables it carried being just as fresh as the day they left Rouen

Found No Profit in Invention.

This demonstration proved to the world the value of Tellier's invention and it was soon adopted by several governments But Tellier did not profit by it Others were glad enough to get his ideas but were very loath to pay for them

It was learned one day that Charles Tellier was in want The government said 'Oh' It s not possible But by the way who is this man Tellier?"

The truth was that the inventor was starving What he had that could be turned into cash was in pawn at the Mont de Piete So the government finally did do something for him He was honored by the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor as if the red ribbon which he could not and would not pawn could keep him alive There is no better illustration of the words of the Bible What man is there among you whom if his son ask bread shall ye give him a stone

Charles Tellier again disappeared into oblivion and want Despite his Legion of Honor decoration the inventor still needed food The government heard of it again and it was decided to give him a great banquet The banquet was given on February 17 last It was a brilliant and its menu was mad of fine and delicate [illegible] with a dessert of eloquent speeches praising Tellier and his invention Then the government believed it had done all that any one could do for Tellier for he who was hungry had eaten

Dies of Starvation

Again Charles Tellier disappeared from the public eye The next thing heard of him was that he was dying" [illegible] starving to death A few days before his death a proprietor threatened to [illegible] him out of his little apartment where he lived with his son a delicate lad who was not strong enough to support his father He had no food or fuel His concierge a brave woman drew 100 francs out of the savings bank to buy him something to eat and some greatly needed medicine But death soon came to relieve the sufferings of this wasted frame Now the government is all agitation Tellier will get a fine funeral with wonderful eulogies for the state having allowed him to starve to death must make amends even if it is too late as it always is

There are those who say that the International Cold Storage association recently raised $10 000 for Tellier s benefit, but the money never reached Paris The aged inventor was approached about the subscription but it is said he refused to accept it, preferring that it should go to his son Others say the fund that was collected for him was embezzled At any rate, all Tellier received was $200 on his deathbed, which will go toward giving him a decent burial

A NEW IDEAL FOR FEMINISM

Pittsburg Wonder Child Quoted in Plea for Sex Cooperation

From the New York Times

Sex cooperation not sex antagonism, was the feminist ideal advanced by Miss Mabel Powers at a meeting held under the auspices of the Woman's Political union As a forecast of the future when this ideal shall have been realized Miss Powers quoted from a tract on suffrage by Winifred Stoner, the 11-year-old 'wonder child of Pittsburg, who speaks nine languages, is ready to enter Stanford University, and is a perfect physical being This is the way it looks to Winifred Stoner

'I think we should have two Presidents of the United States a Mr. President and a Mrs President. They ought to be of the same political party, and it would be better if they were married. But they ought not to have very many children to look after and while they are president the doors of the White house should be closed to the stork"

Something like this is what the future is bringing, said Miss Powers. The best man is 49 per cent feminine, the best woman is 49 per cent masculine In the perfect comradeship of the future man and woman will return to the Garden of Eden which they left hand in hand. There is no "man s work" and no "woman s work:" anything is work for any one who can do it, and the humanity of the future will recognize this.

"Whereas now," said Miss Powers, "when a woman works she gets a woman's wage; when she sins she gets a man's wage, and then some

From the Philadelphia Ledger

PARIS—Colonel Roulet who has just returned from the Sahara has placed before the Anthropological society certain results of his investigation into the presence of man at a remote age in the great desert He discovered some months ago Walata, the religious capital of the Sahara which in the middle ages was a town of great wealth and architectural beauty It lies 300 miles west of Timbuctoo and preserves today the appearance of an ancient citadel

Its one-storied houses built of stone, are ornamented within and without with curious arabesques and rich tracery Colonel Roulet shows that Walata as well as other towns in the Sahara, was inhabited from the earliest times He has found traces there of human habitations in the stone age, and at Trodeni about 400 miles further north he has dug up an interesting set of stone weapons which are of neolithic date Most of the recent remains found in the Timbuctoo district do not go back further than the iron age

EL PASO, Tex., April 23—At midnight this city and Juarez were quiet, and there had been no disturbances General Villa explained that he stopped traffic into Juarez as a precaution, stating that in the present strained moments the irresponsible acts of even a drunken man might have grave consequences.

"It becomes those in authority on both sides of the river to take every precaution against such possibilities," explained the rebel leader.

MAKING HISTORY

"THERE can be no thought of aggression or of selfish aggrandizement," declared the President in his address to Congress asking the support of the army and navy in Mexico. He has said substantially this before. As early as last summer he said in a speech on the Mexican problem that the United States never would acquire another foot of foreign territory meaning, of course, insofar as he would have anything to do with it.

As a profound student of history, and himself a historian of his country, Mr. Wilson talks rather recklessly when he says such things. When a war begins nobody knows where it will end; nobody ever knew. Sixty-five years ago our government engaged in a campaign against Mexico to settle a quarrel over Texas, and it ended with the annexation to this country of nearly one-half of the then Mexican republic. An influential element wanted to take all of Mexico, but unfortunately for the Mexicans and for the cause of civilization they were outvoted in Congress.

The war with Spain fifteen years ago began with even less thought of conquest. It was started to end the intolerable conditions of Spanish rule in Cuba. Probably nine Americans out of every ten had never heard of the Philippines or had only a vague recollection of them dating from the days when they studied geography in the public school. But ninety days after the beginning of the war the fate of the Philippines was the paramount issue. In the end we had to take them not because we wanted them, but to keep them from falling into a state of anarchy.

* * * * *

What right has Mr. Wilson, even though he be President of the United States, to say that we will not acquire another foot of foreign territory, and, more specifically, of Mexican territory? The trouble has just begun; nobody can predict its ending. If the United States does its duty, if it discharges the obvious moral obligation, which rests upon it as Mexico's big neighbor, it will make a clean sweep of that distressed land from the Rio Grande to Yucatan. It will establish and maintain a stable government; and it will bear in mind that the maintenance of such a government is no less important than its establishment, for the day after the American army is withdrawn the bloody struggle of the rival bandits will be resumed.

The English, who have done more than their share of the work of civilizing and governing the inferior races of the world, are wiser than we in their understanding of this problem. And it is noteworthy that almost without exception the English press and public men regard the permanent occupation of Mexico by the United States as necessary and inevitable. "President Wilson is too wise and humane a ruler to consign a vast country to the sheer anarchy which is bound to follow the collapse of such a government as now exists in Mexico," says the London Mail. And the Graphic observes that "the idea that intervention can be limited to the occupation of Tampico and Vera Cruz is a fresh delusion which will be speedily shattered."

Even the wisest and most powerful statesman cannot always control the making of history. And history is being made in Mexico right now.

DANGEROUS RAILROAD CROSSINGS

IN THIS column last Wednesday we called attention to the dangerous crossing of the Colorado Midland railroad at Tejon and Moreno streets, observing that "there is no watchman, no gong, and no gate." This statement was made on the authority of a man who narrowly escaped being run down by a freight train while crossing the track in an automobile, and who was unable either by sight or sound to detect the presence of any safeguards.

Now we learn from the railway company that there is a watchman and a gong at this crossing though the sparrows have a habit of building nests in the gong and putting it out of commission. The watchman complains, too, that youngsters from the Boys' club nearby amuse themselves by tinkering with the gong so as to make it ring all the time or not at all. Otherwise it is all right.

Nevertheless, it is reasonably plain that this crossing it not as safe as it ought to be. The traffic across the tracks on Tejon street is very heavy, especially in summer, when the Broadmoor and Canon cars are usually full. Automobiles pass constantly indeed, with the exception of Colorado avenue, there is no spot outside the business section where the street traffic is greater. The watchman, even if he is everlastingly on the job, cannot afford adequate protection to the public, and this is partly because of the public's own carelessness.

It would be impossible to abolish the grade crossing, but it would be entirely practicable to install gates which would close the railway tracks while trains are passing. This has been done at several of the Santa Fe crossings on the East Side, and the greater safety attained is well worth the cost of installation.

Another dangerous crossing on the Midland is the one at Sierra Madre and Moreno streets, where the trains are a constant menace to life. It should not be a very hard matter for the Council to arrange with the railroad company to afford better protection at both places.

COLORADO CITY ANNEXATION

THE appointment of a committee to represent Colorado Springs in preparing a plan for annexing Colorado City brings the project a step nearer realization. That it will be realized can scarcely be doubted, for no opposition has developed in either place. True, the subject has never been thoroughly discussed in Colorado Springs and there is no means of knowing the prevalent opinion here except as it is indicated by a lack of opposition. But in Colorado City sentiment seems altogether favorable to the plan.

No special benefit to Colorado Springs is to be expected from the annexation of Colorado City. True, our population would look a little more important in the census tables and we could justify a claim to mere bigness which heretofore has been real but not apparent.

The gain to Colorado City, though, would be considerable. The cost of maintaining a separate municipal government is much greater than its share of the cost of governing the united city would be. In becoming a part of Colorado Springs it would share in the common freight rate enjoyed by this city a matter of great importance to the industrial concerns. For these reasons, and also because there is no good reason against it, the plan ought to be carried through.

THE LUDLOW STRIKE HORROR.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I would like to express to you my very strong appreciation of your editorial on the strike situation published Thursday morning.

There are, I believe, many men and women who are thoroughly roused and horrified over the brutalities attending the destruction of the tent colony at Ludlow, but we have been dumb. We have had no effective way of voicing our horror. It has been done for us in The Gazette, courageously and with no glossing over of the appalling facts. I, for one, am deeply indebted to The Gazette for giving public expression to the indignation so many of us feel over this strike situation and the disgrace it has brought upon our state.

Frankly, I confess my sympathies go with the strikers. I find it most difficult to get any clear picture of the whole situation, but that the mine owners in the days of their power took every possible advantage of the weakness of their employes seems clearly established. Much of the subsequent history of the strike and the employment of the militia looks to me very bad, especially on the side of those who should have taken the lead in law and justice, and now, in the story of the horrors of the last two days at least this is apparent—it was the strikers that suffered first and more terribly.

Doubtless there has been violence and brutality on both sides, but on the side from which we had the right to expect most in the way of forbearance, discipline and justice we have received least, unless we have been grossly misled as to the facts.

Is there not some effective plan by which all rightminded citizens can join by which an appeal can be made to the President to restore order and put an end to further atrocities.

ARTHUR N. TAFT

St Stephens Rectory, Colorado Springs, April 23.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I had always supposed that one of the rules of all armed conflict was that no women or children should be fired upon and that a cause which could win only by the killing of women and children was, of course, in all civilized countries, a lost cause. Perhaps this was a rule which guided the ancients and that we in our modern ability to discern good from bad are exempt from. Or perhaps it is a rule which was made for the guiding of Huerta and Geronimo and that in Colorado those who are given authority to bear arms achieve with that distinction the ability to discern between those women and babies who should be shot down and those who should not.

How unfortunate and altogether damnable it is that those mine operators who claim to be warring for a principle should have forgotten that humanity is greater than principle, and have been led into killing women and children whom they would probably have given their own lives to save from a fire or train wreck had it been a personal issue.

WILLET R. WILLIS

Colorado Springs, April 23.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

What a pity it is that we expect untrained militia boys, with inexperienced officers, to suppress industrial d[illegible] and they are not cruel; but they are [illegible] and irresponsible, and they lose their heads in an emergency. And yet we put loaded rifles in their hands and send them out to preserve peace and order! One hundred Canadian mounted police, or Texas rangers, or troops of the Pennsylvania constabulary, would in all probability have kept peace in our mining camps with little or no loss of life. And such a body of trained state police, with mounts, would not cost in ten years what the militia has cost us in six months.

I sincerely wish that the mine owners and the miners' leaders would agree together to ask the governor to request the federal government to send one or two troops of regular cavalry to patrol the disaffected region, until there is time to organise an efficient force of state constabulary.

H. E. COLES.

Colorado Springs, April 23.

CONCERNING BILLY SUNDAY.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Before the good people of Colorado Springs decide to contribute real money to the entertainment of this famous evangelist, it might be well for them to be informed what choice bits of Christian oratory they may expect from him during his stay here. Here are a few specimens clipped from the pages of a reputable publication that has been at some pains to keep tab on that gentleman's sayings and doings:

"If any minister believes and teachers evolution he is a stinking skunk, a fraud, a hypocrite, and a liar."

"There goes old Darwin. He's in hell sure."

"Here you young bulls some of you come and take these heifers out on the grass." (A rebuke to giggling girls.)

"Stand up there, you bastard evolutionist! Stand up with the atheists and the infidels and the w mongers and the adulterers and go to hell."

"I'd stand on my head in a mud puddle if I thought it would give me greater power with God."

"And, oh, say, Jesus better take along a pair of rubber gloves and a bottle of disinfectant, but if you can save him, Lord, I'd like to have you do it."

"To hell with that kind of a minister."—The Truth Seeker, New York City, March 21, 1914.

Where is the hell about which this fellow talks so glibly, and where he is so ready to relegate all those who do not reach his standards of morality or religion? Where is this terrible "lake of fire and brimstone," this pit of "everlasting fire," to which he would condemn scientists as well as sinners—all those who dare to appeal to reason and facts for the solution of problems, instead of depending upon faith, tradition and superstition?

The sane, civilised and enlightened sentiment of this age has no possible patience with people who believe in such teachings, and absolutely no use for those who propagate them. It has been well and truly said that the belief in and teaching of the dogma of endless punishment is proof conclusive that our ancestors were a bunch of "fiends and fanatics far worse than wild, vicious beasts of prey."

Are the people of Colorado Springs, or of any other civilized community, so unspeakably vile that they have to be bribed with the promise of a life of eternal joy in heaven, or threatened with the torture of everlasting fire, in order to persuade them to lead honest and decent lives?

Boomerang Dislikes

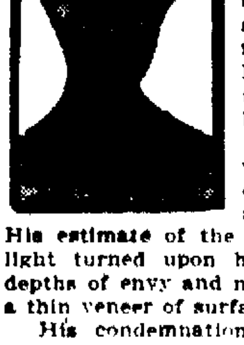
BY RUTH CAMERON

A man's likes and dislikes are an excellent index to his character.

When you say, "I dislike So-and-So," remember that you are telling your auditors something about yourself, as well as about So-and-So.

I heard a young man express himself in regard to an older man the other day.

He said that he didn't like him. And he said it in no qualified terms. Moreover he expressed contempt as well as dislike. He said that the older man was as credulous and easily fooled as a child, had absurdly quixotic ideas of honor and ought to have a guardian.



Now I happen to know the older man quite well. I consider him one of the sweetest, finest, most unselfish men the Lord ever made, and I know that is the general estimate of him.

As to the younger man—well I have been trying to decide what to think of him for some time. And now I know. His estimate of the other man was like a searchlight turned upon himself and lighting up ugly depths of envy and meanness and selfishness, which a thin veneer of surface charm had hitherto covered.

His condemnation of the other man was a boomerang condemnation of himself.

He thinks his senior childishly credulous because he, himself has so little trust in human nature that he cannot understand the other's fine faith.

He thinks his ideas of honor absurdly quixotic because his own are the exact opposite of quixotic.

He says scornfully that he "needs a guardian," because the other man's altruistic point of view is utterly incomprehensible to his selfishness.

We like people whom we are enabled by our likeness to them to understand.

We dislike people whose mental and spiritual vibrations are so different from our own that they awaken no answer within us.

Sometimes our dislike is a tribute to our own worth. Sometimes it is a betrayal of our lack and littleness.

Envy is the cause of a good many dislikes. We often cleverly deceive ourselves into thinking we have some justifiable reason for antagonism when, after all, there is nothing but some form of envy or jealousy at the bottom of it.

The man who has failed cannot forgive the man who has succeeded.

The man who has wasted his talents cannot forgive him who has used his to good advantage.

The man who meant to be good and somehow failed, always hates the man who has kept the faith, with that bitter kind of hatred which they tell us satan feels for God.

"Why do I dislike So-and-So?" is a good question to ask oneself whenever one becomes conscious of a dislike.

The answer may prevent you from publishing that dislike broadcast to act as a boomerang.

Or it may even produce the greater benefit of shaming us into overcoming the dislike.

ODDS AND ENDS

Whether the arrival of the militia in the strike zone will help or make worse conditions there will depend upon the wisdom and moderation of officers and of strike leaders.

But the great and important thing is that the legislature be called to settle once and for all the terrible conditions prevailing in the southern fields.

The time has come in Colorado when partisanship must be forgotten, and all must work together to devise some plan to end a civil war that, so far, has cost the lives of more women and children than of men.

In Vera Cruz, as in the strike zone, women and children are bearing the brunt. Says the Associated Press: "Among the Mexicans wounded were many women and children. Some were killed."

However, there is this distinction, that in Vera Cruz the women and children were warned and given opportunity to leave.

The only excuse for war is that through it conditions may be bettered. And that will be a long and a thankless and a costly job, in money and in American lives. But it is a job we must see through, now that we've started, if we're to be justified by posterity.

Huerta, poor fellow, can't see the difference between grape juice war and real war. The taking of Vera Cruz is so realistic to him that he's given O'Shaughnessy his passports.

Wilson and Bryan, too, are discovering that they can't single out those upon whom they would make war. It's all or none—as Mr. Carranza makes plain.

The quicker we realize that our job in Mexico is the restoration of peace and order throughout the country, and apply ourselves to that job, the quicker it will be ended—and the fewer lives will be lost.

Meantime we wish Prexy Wilson could spare a few men for restoring order in Colorado.

The campaign for the Chamber of Commerce fund has started well. But, remember, we've got to raise the entire $16,000.

And, seeing that we're busy at the same time cleaning up and painting up we can't spend too much time soliciting. Dig, then, without being asked.

There's actual progress being made, this time, in the Colorado City annexation plans. And may no one rise to forbid the banns.

"Women," says "Bathhouse" John, the eminent Chicago statesman, "have as good judgment as men." Which golden encomium they won by electing the Bathhouse to office.

Still, on behalf of the women, we must point out to the Zoologist that though women joined in electing him to office, at the same election, downstate in Illinois, they voted out of existence over 1,000 saloons.

But we suppose the modest Bathhouse would explain that by saying that he was so busy in Chicago's first ward that he didn't have time to instruct the women of the rest of the state.

The Civic league wants "pitiless publicity" in all municipal affairs. The Wilson regime has evidently set an example of caucus methods that isn't altogether appreciated by everybody.

There are lots of people who like to see the wheels of their government go round.

If the Phillies are an example of what happens to a ball club after it's been all shot to pieces by the Feds, other National league managers might well pray for a Federal raid.

Though the Phillies have in the past shown themselves to be good starters and poor finishers.

There's many a club, now out in front, that will find the going decidedly rough along in the hot days of July and August.

For the first time in years the Pirates have got off to a flying start. Can they hold the pace?

And it's up to our Tigers, this afternoon, to keep up the pace they've set from the beginning. D. U., having beaten the Mines, may prove no soft pickings.

The old Denver News is showing real "pep" these days—and bucking right up to the Denver chamber of commerce on the strike question. Bully for John C. Shaffer!

The Denver chamber of commerce of course, wants the strike facts suppressed. That's the solution always proposed by that eminent body of "boosters." "Cover it up."

Orson Adams, former Grand Junction banker, has been indicted by the federal grand jury on 85 counts, carrying a possible maximum sentence of 425 years. Still, even if convicted, he probably won't serve that long.

It's reported that the federal investigating committee will return to Colorado. What we really need is a regiment of United States troops.

Even the Pueblo Star-Journal concedes that the killing of women and children at Ludlow was "a regrettable occurrence."

The Boulder Camera will not hear to a Democratic candidate for governor who will not assent to the proposition that "the Ammons policy was the only honorable one to pursue as regards the strike." And any candidate that does take such a stand will be buried so deep he will never be heard of again.

The western slope has come through the spring thus far without the slightest damage from frost to the fruit crop, and with every promise of a record-breaking yield. Here's hoping!

DIARRHOEA

Diarrhoea is responsible for more deaths among infants and young children than any other disease. Mothers, therefore, should know something about the cause, symptoms and such care and treatment of the conditions as are necessary to give temporary relief until medical advice can be had.

Diarrhoea is attended by frequent loose evacuation of the bowels. There are certain causative factors common to all forms of the disease. They are age, food, and feeding, teething, season and surroundings.

Diarrhoea may be acute or chronic. Either of these forms may be mild or severe. In the mild form there may be only a relaxation of the bowels without inflammation, while in the severe form there is violent purging and ofttimes blood in the stool. The mild form may rapidly develop into the severe type if it is left untreated. For this reason no case of infantile diarrhoea should be neglected.

The symptoms of this mild type of diarrhoea are loose and foul smelling stools, containing masses of half digested curds. The fever is moderate and the child is somewhat fretful. The character of the discharges soon changes from a bright yellow normal color to a greenish yellow and they increase in frequency to five or six a day. The fever is usually up to 102 or 103 degrees at this stage in the progress of the disease. When prompt measures are taken recovery is usually rapid and quite certain.

The symptoms of the severe type of diarrhoea are vomiting and the spinachlike appearance of the stools, in which are to be seen white particles—undigested milk. Fever may be present at the outset or result from neglect of the milder types. Griping is usually present and the child cries with pain. The belly is distended with gas and before each movement of the bowels the baby bends the thighs forward on the belly. The temperature may rise to 104 or 105 degrees and convulsions may supervene. Where these symptoms persist and last for two or three days the child becomes thin and the hands and feet become cold and clammy.

The causes of diarrhoea are (1) teething, (2) improper food, (3) rapid feeding, (4) overfeeding, (5) atmospheric changes, (6) dirty feeding bottles and their attachments, (7) drugs, (8) nervous influences, (9) chill from prolonged exposure to cold, (10) in case of breast fed babies the mother may be in bad health, taking laxatives or nursing the baby while pregnant.

SEEK DOCTOR'S ADVICE.

Mrs. M. B. writes: Should iodine be taken as a medicine? How much would be a dose? What is it good for? What harmful results would an overdose cause?

REPLY

By iodine I judge you mean the dark brown liquid known as the tincture. The element iodine is not given internally. Neither is the tincture. Both are violent, irritant poisons.

However, many forms of iodine are given internally. There are hundreds of preparations. The dose, the indications, and the method of use depend upon the preparation used. Iodides are used in rheumatism, neuralgia, syphilis, scrofula, etc. But do not take iodides unless advised by your physician.

ALOPECIA AREATA CAUSE.

E. N. M. writes: "Is alopecia areata caused by a germ or is it a blood disease? Do people become entirely bald? Does the hair grow again?"

REPLY

Alopecia areata is a baldness which comes in areas. It is a local condition, though it may be a scalp manifestation of a disease which is showing itself quite differently in other portions of the body. Ofttimes it is due to some skin parasite. The answer to your question, then, is that in a c tain sense it is a germ disease, disease sometimes being limited to skin and sometimes being elsewhere well.

2. Extremely rarely.

3. Yes, the disease sometimes g well by itself. Physicians are qu successful in curing it.

THUMB SUCKING CURE.

D. H. C. writes: "We broke o baby from sucking his thumb by pu ting splints on his arm. Take t pieces of white domestic; sew them you would for a sunbonnet; make strips of wood from a cigar box, inch wide and eight inches long; sert these in the opening in the clo and pin to the baby's sleeve above a below the elbow. Our baby did n have the habit after he went to slee so we therefore left them off at nigh They should not be kept on conti uously, as it may make the elbow sti The neighbors thought we were co mitting murder for a week or so, b persistence brought success."

REPLY TO MRS. B.

I think you have a cancer. The oth possibility is a fibroid.

My advice is that you see yo physician regularly. If you have confidence in the one already seen, s another. Choose him more carefull than you would a dress. Do not sele him because he will give you the opin ion you want to get.

If the first doctor is right there is hope for you, and it does not matte much what you do.

If you have a fibroid, you can b cured by operation, in all probabilit

THEIR SONS ARE FARMERS

Other Men Kept Boys at Home b Making Them Real Partners

John Wieand in the Ohio Cultivator

A neighbor told me last summer tha he would as soon trust his boys as himself to go out and buy a horse or a co This man has for years attended a public sales within reach, watching fo stock which could be handled at profit. The proof of his statement cam when he was confined to the house th entire last winter, and his boy of years has bought the stock as h father did. The result of such conf dence will be that the son would be satisfied nowhere but on the farm.

Another man was always afraid let his boys plow, sow grain or any thing else on the farm, thinking h alone could do it right. It is needless to say that those boys are not farmers, and further that the father was not a financial success. A grown young man trusted to do many things wi having no part in the farm management is always discontented.

But the man within my knowledge most to be commended is a truck farmer. When the boys were 12 and 14 respectively, all letter heads and advertisements contained the farm name, followed by "W. E. Swank & Sons, Proprietors." That those boys are real partners is evident.

I am a farmer because my father intrusted all kinds of work and business to me. He consulted me as he would a partner in all plans and problems of the farm. Nor did he wait until I was grown. Then it would have been too late, both because I would already have been dissatisfied and because he did when I was only 18.

The child naturally wants to help, even when only a few years old, and very short-sighted indeed is the father or the mother who, instead of directing the little ones, does not want to be bothered, thinking the task easier and more quickly done without the child. The parent who patiently directs the child in work will have a grown-up son or daughter who enjoys physical labor and will be a standby, not allured by any city attraction.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 23.—Speculative operations were on a small scale today. Neither speculators nor investors were eager to buy stocks, in view of the Mexican situation.

European markets apparently were more disturbed over the Mexican crisis than the New York exchange, owing probably to the fact that Mexican securities are held abroad more heavily than here. It was estimated that 30,000 shares were unloaded here for foreign account. This selling, together with a decline in American stocks in London, caused a general scaling down of quotations in the early market, but later losses were recovered. Net declines were limited to fractions.

The late decline was influenced by a sharp break in Smelting, which was raided on the announcement that the company had suspended operations in its Mexican plants. The stock broke over 5 points. Mexican Petroleum and Southern Pacific also were affected. Canadian Pacific resumed its prolonged decline. It fell 2 points to the lowest figure in four years.

Time money and mercantile paper were firmer. Foreign exchange rates rose to the year's high point and there was talk of gold exports to Paris.

Bonds were irregular, with a continuance of the recent selling of New York state and city issues. Total sales, par value $2,350,000.

United States 2s, registered, declined ½, the 2s coupon and 3s, coupon, ¾, and Panama 2s coupon and registered, ½ on call.

Panama 3s registered advanced ¼. United States 2s registered sold at 97, and Panama 3s, registered, at 102¼, compared with previous transactions at 98 and 101¾, respectively.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, April 23.—Rains that put a stop to danger of drought in the greater part of the country west of the Missouri river had a bearish effect today on the wheat market here. Prices closed unsettled, ⅛c to ⅜c under last night. Corn finished a sixteenth off to ⅛c up, oats, down ⅛c to ⅜c, and provisions, at 2½c to 15c decline.

Selling of wheat quickly became general as soon as the market was open.

Although a strong rally took place in wheat about the middle of the session on account of millers northwest being active buyers, the market later suffered another setback. Absence of export inquiry counted against the bulls.

Although clearing weather in Argentina tended to ease corn at the outset, the market later developed strength, the May option in particular.

Higher prices for hogs brought only temporary firmness in provisions. On all the hard spots in the market packers seized the chance to dispose of holdings.

U. S. CAN EASILY FINANCE WAR NOW

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The United States could finance a war with Mexico and scarcely feel it, is the view authoritatively expressed today. The government's finances are considered to be in excellent condition, so good, in fact, that even the treasury officials have given only tentative consideration to the subject of providing a war fund.

In case of extraordinary expenses, money could be raised, it is pointed out, as it was raised during the Spanish-American war, through extraordinary taxes. It has been estimated that a beer and stamp tax would increase the revenues of the government by at least $100,000,000 a year.

Imposition of such taxes would have to be made by the congress, but it is said there would be no hesitancy either in the house or in the senate to reenact certain parts of the revenue measure of the Spanish-American war.

It can be said that a new issue of bonds is not in contemplation.

At present, lying in the treasury are Panama bonds to the amount of $240,669,000 which may be sold at any time to reimburse the treasury for expenses incurred in the construction of the Panama canal. Of the $375,200,980 of Panama bonds authorized, only $134,631,980 have been issued. The balance could be issued at the pleasure of the president and Secretary McAdoo.

INDIANA REPUBLICANS WILL SUPPORT WILSON

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 23.—Though denouncing the Mexican policy of the national administration, the platform adopted by the Republican state convention here today pledged the undivided support of the Republican party to the government in whatever it may undertake for the vindication of the nation's honor or the nation's rights in Mexico or elsewhere.

The section dealing with the Mexican policy of the government alone says the differences of the Republican party with the national administration are differences of policy only and not of patriotism.

Another section, in speaking of the Democratic party, reads:

"It declared for protection of the rights of every American citizen of the United States residing in a foreign land and compelled thousands of citizens of the United States residing in Mexico to obtain it by fleeing across the border to avoid the bloody consequences of watchful waiting.'"

The platform assails the Democratic revision of the tariff. Of the Democratic national administration, the platform says:

"We condemn the present national administration for its repeated violations of plighted faith with the people."

BRITISH WARNED TO LEAVE MEXICO

EL PASO, Tex., April 23.—British subjects in Mexico were warned today to leave immediately. The warning came from the British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, at Washington, to H. C. Myles, British consul here, who immediately wired to consuls in Mexico. About 700 Britons are in Mexico.

300 YALE MEN SIGN UP FOR MEXICAN WAR

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 23.—Preliminary steps were taken today for the organization of a Yale troop of cavalry to go to Mexico if called upon. Four hundred students last night attended a rousing meeting which was presided over by Don' Markle, a sub on last year's football team. Three hundred of those present signed enlistment cards. The men are the pick of the university, many being prominent socially and in athletics. Seth Low, son of former Mayor Seth Low of New York, was one of those who would enlist.

The meeting was addressed by cavalry officers of the Connecticut National guard.

PUEBLO MERCHANT ATTACKED IN STORE; DIES IN HOSPITAL

PUEBLO, Colo., April 23.—Struck down by an unknown assailant in his store, Max Newman, a well-known merchant, was so badly injured here today that he died in a hospital late this afternoon. The man was found lying on the floor by a woman customer who entered the store about noon. Newman's skull had been crushed by a blunt instrument. The police are at a loss for a motive for the crime.

MEXICANS READY TO FIGHT UNCLE SAM

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 23.—Four thousand Mexicans have enlisted at a secret recruiting station here within the last few days and left for service below the border, according to a report made to the police early this morning. Chief of Police J. Keene Wilson has prohibited the sale of firearms to Mexicans.

JAPANESE NEWSPAPERS USE MODERATE TONE

TOKIO, April 23.—Most of the leading newspapers of Japan are moderate and reserved in their attitude regarding the Mexican situation. One or two of the less responsible journals, however, today suggest that advantage should be taken of the present embarrassment of Washington to press the issues outstanding between Japan and the United States.

KEY WEST, Fla., April 23.—The equipment building of the naval station here is being prepared as an emergency hospital for receiving the wounded American marines from Vera Cruz.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW
Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and luster, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications it also brings back the gloss and luster and gives it an appearance of abundance.
